Greece Threatened By Nazi

SOBIA, March 5.—Southeastern Europe seethes
today as Great Britain severed diplomatic relations with German-occupied Bulgaria.

In an interview distinguished by its brevity, British Minister George Rendel informed Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff that London was breaking its diplomatic ties with Sofia.

It was stated that Rendel
informed Filoff that Britain was breaking diplomatic relations
because of Bulgarian adherence to the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo pact.

Threatens Greece
He pointed out that German
"invasion" of Bulgaria also was bound to threaten Greece, an ally
of Britain, as long as Bulgaria favored Germany's Balkan intentions.

Bulgarian sources said they expected the British minister and legation and consular staffs to leave Sofia this coming week-end or on Monday at the latest.

The government also advised
the Dutch, Polish and Belgian diplomatic representatives in Sofia
to leave the country as soon as possible.

In his talk with Filoff, Rendel terse gave notice of diplomatic severance of relations and asked for passports for himself and his staff.

PA NEW OBSERVES

President Roosevelt began his ninth year as chief executive of the United States on Tuesday.

In connection with the fact that yesterday, March 4, was the former presidential inauguration day in this country, H. T. Amberson recalled
the fact that years ago his mother related that she was born on the day that America had no president.
The date of her birth was March 4, 1849, and it was Sunday. The presidential inauguration did not take place until Monday.

A local school teacher revealed to Pa New that one of the pupils in his school approached him on Tuesday afternoon, and with a twinkle
in his eye, asked "Do you know the three famous men who were never born?" The teacher was rather puzzled. The boy then enlightened
him. "They were Santa Claus, Charlie McCarthy and Uncle Sam," the lad gleefully explained.

William W. McMillan, of Beckford street, states that Mr. and Mrs. Ed.
Schull, of Petersburg, Ohio, near Mt. Jackson, have had fourteen cardinals as guests in their back yard, every day, throughout the winter. These birds were fed three times a day, the food consisting mostly of shelled corn.

Hitler's Attempts To Sway Turkey Appear Unlikely To Succeed

(International News Service)

ANKARA, March 5.—Chancellor
Hitler's mighty effort to tear Turkey from her alliance with Great Britain appeared to be failing today.
Semi-official Turkish press and radio statements, issued after German dangled a slice of northern Syria before the Ankara government, indicated Turkey would reject all overtures from the axis powers.

Although there was no immediate official confirmation, indications multiplied that Turkey plans to stand by Greece and Britain, despite the thousands of German motorized troops massed along the Greek and Turkish Thracian frontiers.
A full announcement of the Turkish position is expected later today.

It will come as a dramatic climax to a period of feverish diplomatic intrigue and struggle between Britain and the axis powers.
Reports that Hitler, in his supreme bid to win Turkey from Britain, held out part of Syria as a bait,
were first carried by International News Service yesterday and were confirmed today by the semi-official Turkish newspaper Ulus.

Personal Message
Hitler's attempt was made in a personal message to Turkish President Ismet Inonu, presented to the latter by German Ambassador Franz von Papen. The German chancellor's message was rushed to Ankara
by a special flying courier.

Coastal Centers Of Vital Ex-

By Japanese Forces

BULLETIN

(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, March 5.—Coastal centers from which China has been exporting vital defense products to the United States were seized by Japanese forces today.

Nipponese troops and sailors seized and occupied the main Chinese centers from which tungoil and wolfram have been shipped to the United States. The captured area lies 100 miles southwest of the British crown colony and naval base of Hong Kong.

Previously these products had been smuggled through the Japanese blockade to Hong Kong, where they were shipped to the United States.

The exports also permitted China
to make payments on her loans from America.

Yugoslavia Calls Army Reservists

(International News Service)
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March

with Yugoslavia led to immediate precautionary measures by Yugoslavia.

Diplomatic quarters said they also expected a British blockade to be clamped down on Rumania "at any moment."

Yugoslavian army reservists between the ages of 22 and 50 were ordered to report for duty.
It appeared the entire country will be on a virtual war footing by March 10.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—
The senate prepared to act on amendments to the lease-lend bill today with administration leaders reported ready to accept a provision limiting the number of warships which can be transferred to Great Britain.

At the same time a Democratic bloc—including supporters of the bill—appealed to the senate leadership to sanction an amendment
assuring the country that a second
A. E. F. will not be sent to Europe.
Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, announced his opposition both to convoys and to sending men to foreign wars. He insisted that neither action is authorized under the bill.

To Accept Limit
Sen. Brewster (R) Me., author of an amendment limiting the number of naval vessels, said he has been told that "there is a disposition to accept some limit on the tonnage or number of warships which might be transferred."

In the face of a declaration by one of the highest administration officials that the White House will "stand pat" on the bill, senate leaders frankly said that they would consider amendments.

Before the upper chamber took

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 5.—Dropping fire bombs and high explosives, Nazi raiders pounded the south Wales
seaport of Cardiff for the third successive night and scattered bombs over other sections of Britain, the air ministry announced today.

"Enemy activity was on a small scale and confined to southern England," a communique said. "It ceased at midnight."

"The main target was a district in south Wales. Some fires were extinguished."
A few bombs dropped on the south coast and Thames estuary districts but did little damage and caused few casualties. One enemy bomber was shot down in the Bristol channel.

Towns in western and south-western England also were raided. London experienced another air raid alarm but the all-clear sounded an hour before midnight.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire and terrific fire from naval guns was heard at one south coast town as German raiders apparently attacked shipping
in the English channel.

At least two raiders were apparently in difficulties after this attack.
Residents of the district heard the engines sputter as they apparently dropped toward the sea.

ATHENS, March 5.—Full agreement between Great Britain and Greece to fight
on until the Rome-Berlin Axis is defeated was reached in Athens today.

Complete satisfaction was expressed in official circles over results of the conversations between British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Prime Minister
Alexander Korizis of Greece.

As this correspondent revealed exclusively on Monday, Greece has definitely decided to throw in her lot with England, despite the apparent imminence of a German invasion from Bulgaria. This decision was re-emphasized, as one official spokesman put it:

"Whoever Greece's new enemy
may be or how powerful she is, remains a matter of secondary importance."

Attitude Of Greece Clear
The rest of the Balkans are shrouded in mystery. Bulgaria, Rumania and even Turkey seem uncertain of their own fate and future.

But the attitude and determination of Greece are clear. Both were emphasized again in leading articles in all Athens newspapers. One publication which clearly reflected the viewpoint of Korizis, King George and Commander-in-Chief General
Alexander Pappas had this to say:
"When the Greek nation made its decision to resist Italy's unwarranted invasion, it decided at the same time to continue the war until final victory was achieved."

"The whole nation is determined to resist under any and all circumstances. With calm heart and undiminished courage, we decided then

LONDON, March 5.—Great Brit-

a tight blockade on that German-occupied country.

An official announcement issued soon after Britain had ended relations paved the way for possible attacks on Germany's "Balkan army."

"From today onward, Bulgaria is regarded as an enemy destination
for contraband purposes."
"All goods of Bulgarian origin or ownership are liable to seizure."

Mexico if it ever should become necessary to do so in the interests

LONDON, March 5.—
Britain formally severed relations with Bulgaria today,
paving the way for possible attacks on the Nazi "Balkan army."

An official announcement in London said diplomatic relations with Sofia were broken at 8:30 a. m. (2:30
a. m. EST).

Authoritative British quarters declared George Rendel, British minister at Sofia, and members of his legation staff are expected to leave the Bulgarian capital
in two or three days, probably via Istanbul.

The severance of diplomatic ties
was a direct result of German military occupation of Bulgaria.

A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch said the Bulgarian foreign minister notified the Belgian and Polish ministers and the Netherlands charge d'affaires at Sofia that their missions were terminated. They were told to make arrangements to depart.

All three served notice of severance of relations last night.

Editor's Note: Reports from Sofia said Rendel demanded his passport from the Bulgarian gov-

Report Bulgarian Foreign Minister Has Resigned Post

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 5.—Bulgarian Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff has resigned from the government, a Reuters (British) news agency dispatch said today.

The agency quoted the Ankara
Gadio, which based its information on reports from Sofia.

Editor's Note: Previous reports from Sofia said Popoff planned to resign on the ostensible ground of ill-health, but in reality because he opposed the policies of Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff.

Filoff was reported to have taken over the foreign office portfolio.
Popoff's reported resignation following the Anglo-Bulgarian diplomatic rupture by only a few hours.

ROME, March 5.—One Canadian division as well as other British troops already have landed at the strategic Greek port of Salonika, Virginia Gayda, press spokesman for Premier Mussolini, stated today.

The tortuous denial by Athens of our previous revelation of the arrival of new British forces at Salonika is "worthless," Gayda wrote.

Editor's Note: Gayda first reported that British forces had ar-

"It is a fact," Gayda continued,
"that a whole Canadian division,
already has almost completely

This division has been followed by numerous other detachments and arms already sent from England to

Eighth Victim Of Plane Crash Is Dead

New York Man Dies At Atlanta

Death Of C. M. Tappen Follows Relapse From Injuries In Georgia Crash

RICKENBACKER IS IMPROVING SOME

(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—The body of C. M. Tappen, Long Island, N. Y., attorney who died yesterday of injuries suffered in the crash of an Eastern Airlines sleeper plane south of Atlanta last Thursday, will be sent by train today to Nutley, N. J., for burial.

Although Tappen's condition has been considered critical, his death was unexpected and followed a relapse which came shortly after he had been given a blood transfusion. His death raised to eight the number of persons fatally injured in the crash.

Rickenbacker Improves
Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, famous American World War ace and president of Eastern Airlines, another passenger injured severely in the accident, continued to show improvement. He appeared to enjoy a meal of milk toast and soft-cooked eggs last evening, and spent his second successive restful night, sleeping quietly with the aid of sedatives.

Captain Rickenbacker suffered multiple injuries, including several broken ribs and a fractured hip, but he has overcome most of the effects of shock which earlier worried attending physicians.

Captain Rickenbacker's mental condition is much better, doctors reported today, "and unless complications set in he should continue to improve."

The condition of H. A. Little, New York Times executive and the third seriously injured passenger, again was reported to be generally good.

hand over part of Syria, now mandated to France, at the end of the war. He also promised to safeguard Turkey's frontiers and gave assurances to Inonu that the Reich has no hostile intentions toward Turkey. Yesterday afternoon and again last night the Turkish cabinet considered Hitler's message. The sessions were attended by Marshal Fevzi Cakmak, head of the Turkish army.

Even as the government weighed the proposals new troop reinforcements were rushed to the border fronting Nazi-occupied Bulgaria.

Premier Refik Saydam is expected to announce the Turkish reply to Hitler in a nationwide radio broadcast.

pected to resign soon on the ostensible grounds of "ill health." Popoff was said to have become "ill" the day before Bulgaria joined the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo military alliance. According to information in Budapest, he disapproves strongly of Premier Plof's policy.

The London-Sofia diplomatic rupture followed a period of considerable disorder in Bulgaria, according to reports reaching London. Large numbers of Bulgarian left-wing students were said to have been arrested for demonstrating against the Bulgarian alliance with the Axis powers.

British officials continued to insist that the diplomatic break will "not necessarily" be followed by a British declaration of war against Bulgaria.

Free To Attack Nazis
But they made it clear they would feel free to attack German forces in Bulgaria. In fact, British authorities circled yesterday virtually promised this would be done.

In addition, it was stressed, Britain would feel free to attack the Nazi troops on Bulgarian soil without any formal declaration of war, simply on the ground that London considers Bulgaria an enemy-occupied territory.

According to the London Daily Express, the British attitude goes even further than this, taking the view that Bulgaria no longer is a neutral nation.

Under the circumstances, informed circles indicated, it may not be long before British bombs will be falling on Bulgarian soil.

It was recalled that Rendel in a public declaration at Sofia recently warned "dire consequences" would ensue for Bulgaria once London-diplomatic relations were broken.

Earle Takes Charge

Rendel yesterday informed United States Minister George H. Earle of the break and the American diplomat instructed his legation aides to prepare to take charge of British interests in Bulgaria.

Official sources last night declared that if the German troops massed in Bulgaria opposite the Greek and Turkish frontiers attack either Greece or Turkey, then Britain would give the latter two nations "all the help required."

But authoritative sources previously insisted that Britain would attack German forces "wherever they are found"—and made no secret of their belief that the diplomatic break was being carried out for this purpose.

Attention in London also was directed toward Yugoslavia, the next nation apparently slated by Chancellor Hitler for inclusion in the Axis-Japanese military alliance.

The London Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch from Belgrade, said there are rumors that German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano might confer with Yugoslavian Regent Prince Paul at his Slovenia estate.

But the London Daily Mail said it was reported Prince Paul would leave Yugoslavia tomorrow to visit Chancellor Hitler in Germany.

MAY PUT LIMIT ON TRANSFER OF U. S. WARSHIPS

N. H., in a prepared speech, urged aid to England, but denounced the lease-lend measure as drawing the nation into war.

"There are those, however, who would go even farther, by having the congress adopt legislation, which would draw this country into the largest scale war ever experienced by man—a war which would result in economic ruin to this country and millions of maimed American boys," he declared. "This latter course I cannot, and will not, follow."

Congress is willing to pass a bill giving credits to Britain within 48 hours Tobey said, adding:

Unnecessary Provisions
"Instead of following this method, however, the administration has brought in a bill filled with unnecessary provisions, and fraught with war danger for this country."

"I refer to the so-called lease-lend-give bill, now being debated in the senate. By this bill the senate would give up its treaty-making power, and the congress would turn over to one man the power to make war, involving 130,000,000 people."

Majority Leader Barkley held out hope for passage this week, but other administration spokesmen indicated that their new goal for enactment is the middle of next week.

The Ellender amendment against sending men to Europe gained support from several southern Democrats. Sen. Byrd (D) Va., announced that he would support it.

Sen. Russell (D) Ga., was listed by Sen. Ellender (D) La., as for the amendment. Sen. Lucas (D) Ill. said he was "seriously considering" a vote for it.

Ellender rejected a proposed compromise amendment of Sen. O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., prohibiting transportation of lease-lend goods by armed forces beyond American possessions.

"Under that amendment our ships could be used to transport goods to Guam and the Philippines so the British could take them to the Orient," Ellender said. "If war develops in the Far East our ships thus would be attacked. If Iceland is in the Western Hemisphere, as many think, our navy could be used under the amendment to transport goods there for the British."

"A number of Democratic senators, who are for the bill, have asked leaders to accept the amendment or one similar to it."

Despite the agreement to end general debate, bitter foes of the bill predicted that the senate battle may go on for weeks. Amendments, it was explained, can be used as a vehicle for lengthy speeches.

The senate was to first consider amendments proposed by the Foreign Relations committee. These amendments deny contract authority to President Roosevelt without specific congressional action, limit life of a revolving fund from repayments to 1946 and revise the Dirksen amendment which permits congress to revoke extraordinary powers for the president at will.

Former Washington County Officials Found Not Guilty

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 5.—Three former county officials were acquitted today of misconduct charges in their second trial growing out of the grand jury probe of alleged "racket protection" in Washington county.

In each case the defendant was ordered to pay the cost, as yet unestimated.

staff will leave Sofia by train today, en route to Turkey. Rendel is expected to depart later.

Fear War Spread

Diplomatic quarters openly feared that the London-Sofia rupture may lead to quick spread of the war to the Balkans, perhaps touched off by British attacks on German troops near the Greek and Turkish frontiers.

All Bulgarian men between the age of 16 and 61 were ordered to report for "work duty."

Reports from Belgrade indicated serious apprehension there. All Yugoslavian men from 23 to 51 years of age were ordered to register at once for military service. They were told they must be ready for duty with the armed forces at a "moment's notice."

Editor's Note: Recent reports have indicated that Yugoslavia is next on the Axis list for inclusion in the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo military alliance.

At Budapest the semi-official Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd reported Germany may serve an ultimatum upon Greece to halt the Axis-Greek conflict March 15.

By that time, the paper said, German preparations along the Bulgarian-Greek frontier are expected to be completed.

At present, it was stated, Greece has no more than four or five divisions facing the Bulgarian frontier, where German forces are massing in increasing numbers.

tion," was all that Bronx District Attorney Samuel Foley would say about reports that the Harrisburg, Pa., youth was being questioned regarding the slaying last Monday of Mrs. Elizabeth Jensen, 34, who was found strangled to death under circumstances similar to the Papas killing.

Police also were reported to be grilling Cvek, who was arrested Monday night in a cheap midtown Manhattan hotel after a month-long manhunt through 15 states, about the murder of Bernice Martinez, Cuban showgirl, who was found slain in her West 48th street apartment on September 8.

Questioned In State Case
Two Pennsylvania state police officers arrived in New York to interrogate Cvek in connection with the slaying of Rachel Taylor of Wildwood, N. J., 17-year-old co-ed of Penn State College, who was beaten to death on March 28, 1940. They also sought to determine whether the youth was linked with the killing of Margaret Martin, 19, who was slain December 19, 1938, at Kingston, Pa.

The youth, who is being held without bail on a first degree murder charge, will be brought into court Friday when District Attorney Foley is scheduled to present his evidence to the grand jury.

Nine of Cvek's 34 attack victims, who had been robbed and assaulted in their homes, identified the prisoner.

During the past year, according to police Cvek has been hitch-hiking through the east, ranging between Brunswick, Me., and Savannah, Ga. It was estimated that it would take several weeks to trace all his movements and reported crimes.

purpose of this talk was to discuss military problems—chiefly "food proof" protection of Rumania and her rich oil fields by the German air force.

Antonescu Arrives
Antonescu arrived in Vienna only a short time after Britain severed diplomatic relations with German-occupied Bulgaria.

It was stated that Goering and Antonescu canvassed relating economic matters as well as purely military considerations.

Goering met Antonescu at the Vienna railway station and conducted him to the Imperial Hotel. They talked later at the Belvedere palace, where Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Plof recently signed his country into the Axis-Japanese military alliance.

Lunch followed the formal talks and Antonescu was scheduled to fly back to Bucharest this afternoon. The Rumanian premier was accompanied by the German air force attaché at Bucharest and the Rumanian under secretary of economics.

The meeting was believed to have resulted from German determination to forestall any possible coup by British armed forces or bombing planes in the Balkan area.

Hunters of Pennsylvania killed the staggering sum of 471,539 pheasants during the past year and game farms are constantly being enlarged.

Williams and Robert Weingartner, was empowered to make all necessary arrangements and Wilbur Ramsey offered to donate a sack of fertilizer for the project. Prof. B. G. Leslie reported that the school children are preparing a special program for the event planting to take place on Arbor Day, April 18.

BOLSHEVIK CUSTOMER

It is disclosed that of all the non-belligerent countries of the world Russia in 1940 was the heaviest importer of American goods, American exports now enter Russia at only one port—Vladivostok. The total value of American imports in 1940 climbed $86,900,000.

One of the larger items making up this total was sole leather. Alongside it was wheat. The value of cotton ordered exceeded even these. Non-aviation gasoline of a value of $1-850,000 is in the list. An increasing demand for refined copper, with copper wire, is also noted. It is not now obtainable from the usual European sources.

Seamless casings and oil-line pipe, formerly furnished Russia by Germany, now come to it from America. Oil well and oil refinery machinery is prominent in the list of sales.
So is conveying machinery. The American internal combustion engine retains its popularity in Russia.

How much of these export shipments to Russia reach Germany is anybody's guess, but British authorities suspect that the total adds up surprisingly.

STANDARDIZED MESSAGES

The old tradition that the English people are inefficient is belied
by a code devised in London for transmission of messages to soldiers abroad. The postal authorities have reduced to numbers a couple of hundred phrases, inquiries, love messages, and so on, commonly sent by cable.

Thus Message No. 69, translated from figures to words, means "All well; children have been evacuated." No. 85 means "Son is born, mother and baby well." Another simple number is relayed in the form, "You are more than ever in my thoughts; I wish we were together now." The
And so on.

Our American telegraph systems have been doing this sort of thing for some time.

GERMANS PUSH ARGENTINE TRADE

The latest tip-off on Nazi trade tactics in South America comes from Baron Edmund von Therman, German ambassador to Argentina, just returned to Buenos Aires from Berlin. The Baron is cautioning the Argentines that their trade relations with the United States have no future and that if they know what's good for them they will give Germany their business. In addition, he warns Argentina not to forget Japan, which is "now on our side."

Von Therman's argument is that after the war Germany will be in a position to export great quantities of machinery and to buy huge amounts of corn, wheat and meat, whereas, he says, the United States has the same products as Argentina and won't be much help in filling its needs. The Baron appears to overlook the fact that the United States also makes and exports a lot of machinery.

This German ambassador's activity reveals that the Nazis are not waiting for the end of the war to pep up their muscling into New World trade. It emphasizes the need for American business men to be alert to this economic invasion and to redouble their efforts to increase this country's commercial dealings, not only with Argentina but with all the republics of Central and South America. We haven't begun to scratch the surface of Latin America's trade possibilities. We should not let the Nazis outplay us in what ought to be our own markets.

ALIVE TO IT

That story now floating about in neutral circles that Germany has 600 submarines ready to turn loose in the North Atlantic sea lanes probably has its source in Nazi boasts of what is forthcoming in the way of blockading of Britain. The number may not be exaggerated.

But Germany, which was supposed to have entered the war with 60 submarines, can hardly have increased by tenfold its supply of full-size, first-line subs. It is understood that most of them are "minnows," capable of doing great damage to merchant ships but hardly powerful enough to resist counter-aggression.

To meet the submarine menace, Britain is arming its merchant ships, increasing the strength of naval protection for convoys and introducing a new craft, the corvette, which is small, fast, of heavy firing power and capable of being launched at a rapid rate. With enough of these corvettes, Britain probably can protect its merchant convoys against submarines. Protection against German dive bombers is something else.

There is another story to the effect that Britain has a new type of airplane to serve in the sea lanes against both submarines and bombers. This plane can cruise at 30 miles an hour, if reports are to be believed, and thus can spot and destroy lurking subs. It can also speed up to 200 miles an hour and do battle with the bombers.

This story isn't vouched for and will not be until action starts. But it is a safe bet that Britain is thoroughly alive to the impending North Atlantic challenge.

BRITISH AND GERMAN MENUS

The new British food restrictions don't seem especially rigorous.
The official controllers have insisted right along that their regulations were designed simply to prevent waste. The British boast that the health of the people has actually improved during the war. Special care has been taken to insure a scientifically balanced ration.

One-course meals of meat, fish, poultry and game will now be the rule, although such traditional combinations as steak and kidney and veal and ham will be preserved. Britons may eat bacon and egg —not eggs. Cheaters will be punished with fines and imprisonment.
It is hoped soon to have enough milk and the people are eating more cattail, proverbial sustenance of the sturdy Scots.

The latest information on the typical German menu was contained in the article last week in The Philadelphia Inquirer by Lynn Heinzelinger, who recently returned from Europe. He describes the food as plentiful but of poor quality and particularly lacking in necessary vitamins. The deficiency causes skin diseases and other troubles. Milk, butter and eggs are exceedingly scarce or non-existent. Germans have been getting more meat from the occupied countries, but the supply may soon run short.

Neither the British nor the Germans seem to be going hungry, although the former are apparently receiving more nourishing food.
But the imminent all-out attack on their sources of supplies suggests that the British before long may have to tighten their belts in earnest.

The Parent
Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

THE CHILD DECIDES

You, Mother, are driving the family car. Finding yourself in a pinch, on a slippery street, you step on the brake and collide with the car ahead. When later you recite the incident to your husband, he responds with those well-known words, "I should think you would have known better." How his answer makes you feel, I need not say.
Anyway, you did the best you could in the emergency. Not for any meanness toward your husband did you cause the wreck. To be told that you should have known better makes you feel either angry or dejected.

Suppose that you send your son
to the store for pickles, and you name a special brand. The boy goes but discovers that the brand
you want is not in the store today.
He supposes that you must have the pickles right away, so he decides to bring another brand. When you see the substituted pickles you are angry
and you say, "I should think you would have known better." Your particular nervous tension may bring forth a slightly different series of sounds as, "It seems to me you should have used more sense." Then how did the boy feel? Not so good.
And yet his motives were the very best. He thought he had done well to bring home the substituted brand of pickles.

Encourage Ingenuity
When you come to think the matter over, you are glad he exercised so much ingenuity, independence and initiative as to venture a decision in the emergency. By such practice he is being educated to face bigger problems in his later life.
You undoubtedly conclude now that in the future you are going to make him glad he ventured the responsibility for making an important decision.

When we parents are on guard
to the degree that we are guided by our reason rather than our feelings, we shall never say, "I should think you would have known better."
I cannot, indeed, imagine any situation in which such remark is ever warranted. We shall, instead, express approval to the child for exercising independence and initiative.
Then we shall calmly add without the slightest tone of blame, "Next time you meet with such experience,
I should, if I were you."

In His Place
But in order for us to act so nearly intelligently we shall have to exercise tremendous self-control. Here is a fertile field for cultivating in your child and mine a quality of character which should prove very useful to him. Something else will come of it. We will win our child's admiration, his respect, his comradeship.
In no other type of instance,
probably, can we prove to the child
that we have so well put ourselves into his place to see a little as he understands, and feel a little as he feels. Upon such proof to him that we can really put ourselves into his place are the finest and most lasting comradeships and family affections built.

(International News Service)
LONDON—Australian Prime minister Robert G. Menzies opposes the drift towards enmity.
"Do not let us become victims of that most pernicious of habits—the habit of believing that a possible conflict becomes inevitable."

NEW YORK—Sir Gerald Campbell, British minister to the United States, makes a prediction:
"This month of March, 1941, is almost certain to mark the opening of the most decisive phase of the greatest struggle the world has known."

WASHINGTON—Senator David I.
Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts,
voices his view on aid to Britain:
"What hypocrisy of those who insist England is fighting our fight and yet insist that we shall give only limited aid."

NEW YORK—Thomas S. Lamont, vice president of the Greater New York Fund, advocates changing the international pattern:
"The world of today cannot live half slave, half free any more than our country could in Lincoln's day."

THE HARD WAY

It's not easy to be honest; it's not easy to be true.
There are times when what is proper is most difficult to do.
There are times the way of honor is a tedious one to face.
But remember ease and comfort are a soft and flabby pair.

It's not easy to be skillful; it's not easy to be good.
Not easily is knowledge here acquired or understood.
Growth's a slow and painful process;
every worth while gain is made Out of hardship; out of failure;
standing firm although afraid.

It's not easy to be gracious; one must think and dream and plan.
Brave and kind is a temptation
through the years to be met.
Soft the ways of ease and comfort;
hard the ways of truth and grace.
Who would be by all respected has a thousand odds to face.

A luckless book peddler knocked at the door of a Neshannock avenue

by a rather grumpy looking woman.
"Have you Charles Dickens in your house?" he queried by way of opening the conversation leading to a possible sale.

"Perhaps, Robert Louis Stevenson
or Walter Scott?" he continued, a ray of hope dawning in his eyes.
"No, we ain't," said the woman,
and what's more, I don't take in lodgers. Try next door," and the door slammed shut.

What's What At A Glance

Harriman's Job Annoys Isolationists
Reporter's Question Annoys President
Will Keep Knudsen Informed On Needs

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 5.

There's a very small East Indian copper coin called a dam. It's worth scarcely as much as one of our American pennies. If a person doesn't care a dam for a thing, he certainly doesn't care much.

Well when President Roosevelt was asked by a newspaperman, at one of his press conferences, whether
W. Averill Harriman was going to London in an official diplomatic capacity or just as
P. D. R.'s personal representative, he said he didn't exactly know and he didn't care up to the value of one of those East Indian coins, either. At least, I assume that it was the coin he was referring to.
He mentioned its name, anyway.

There's been so much talk of his war-time habit of sending emissaries aboard with no responsibility to anyone except himself that the probability is he's getting tired of it and wanted to make it known that he considered that Harriman query absolutely incompetent, im-material and irrelevant—just as inconsequential as one of those perverse little coins, in fact.

From investigation, however, it appears that Averill's mission is as purely presidential as Harry Hopkins' or "Wild Bill" Donovan's (and maybe Wendell Wilkie's should be included), to Europe, or Lauchlin Currie's, to China.

If Averill had any diplomatic status, his appointment would have had to be approved by the Senate, and the Senate wasn't even consulted.

Knudsen Hook-Up
It appears that his job in London
is to keep Bill Knudsen's Washington Office of Production Management fully informed as to Britain's supply requirements to fight the Axis. He's been connected with the Knudsen outfit in this country and doubtless is pretty well qualified for his assignment. The critics' complaint isn't that he's unequipped
for it, but that he ought to be answerable to some authority besides exclusively the White House.

Isolationists in Congress insist to class him with Bill Bullitt, our ambassador in France at the time of its capitulation to the Axis.
Bill, to be sure, was a regularly accredited diplomat, but the isola-tionists haven't liked his conversation since his return to the United States, arguing that he's far overly active in efforts to reason Uncle Sam into the war. As an American citizen, of course, he has a perfect right to do it, but they don't think he was a suitable individual for an ambassadorial post in the first place—and Averill isn't even the ambassadorial string on him.

Averill's richer than Bill. Bill, on the opposite hand, is more aristocratic than Averill.

Bill, for that matter, also is extremely well-heeled financially, but his outstanding quality is membership in "one of the first families of Philadelphia," dating away back to William Penn's time or thereabouts. Averill's ancestral tree wasn't conspicuous prior to the days of E. H. Harriman, the railroad multimillionaire whose bank-roll, estimated at about $100,000-000, descended to Averill and his brother. Averill likewise inherited his old man's business acumen. In this respect, he's recognized in Washington as a dandy. From a business standpoint, Bill is assessed as only average—competent to hang onto what he's got, but no wizard.

Bullitt's Opinions
Isolationists, who charge that President Roosevelt's policy is warming us into war, resent Bill Bullitt's influence. They can't do anything about it, though. He's as much entitled to express his opinions as they are to express theirs.

But they voice their doubts of the White House's title to keep sending personal, unofficial agents to war-torn Europe and Asia, and they point to Averill Harriman as one of 'em.

And they don't like the pitchforking of Harry Hopkins into the unofficial position of an adviser of the Office of Production Management.
Harry's said to have invented,
for Averill Harriman's benefit, the mission that Averill's just leaving on.

The extreme isolationists know they've outvoted on Capitol Hill, however.

WAR SLANG TO DATE.
Every war produces its own brand of slang—ranging as ginger and with a kick almost alcoholic in force.
Take Uncle Sam's new army.

"A mustard played bingo with the ack-acks, thinking it would put him in solid with the horned toad when the eagle flies. What'd it get him?
A yellow ticket for risking his love-
bird and getting sprayed with chat-terbox confetti." That means, translated from 41 slang of the 41 army:
"A young enthusiastic pilot risked anti-aircraft fire thinking it would win him favor with the ranking officers on pay raise."

What did he accomplish? He was dishonorably discharged for risking his plane unnecessarily and for being sprayed with machine gun fire."

Slang seems the pepper of the language—too much is "memorable, but it is perfect seasoning. Some of the new soldier slang will stick to enrich the language, no doubt.
"Mystery," meaning hash, isn't bad,
nor is "the eagle flies," meaning pay raise. Most slang dies. But slang that chances to fit a vacat chink
in a language may stick on indefinitely. Anyone who says "I'll waker you did," or "care killed a cat," or "comparisons are odorous," or "laugh that off," or "go sell your soul to someone else"—directly quotes Shakespeare! The army slang of 41 is as new as tomorrow morning; but out of the excitement and tenseness of training will come bits of language to be quoted centuries hence—flinty sparks of expression to live when this world crisis is dim history.

Game Of Politics

"The Frankfurter Roll"

WASHINGTON, March 5.

AN ardent admirer of the late Justice Holmes, Justice Felix Frankfurter is understood to cherish the same conception of the essential dignity of Supreme Court membership as did that great jurist. He believes it is said, as did Holmes, in the complete isolation of the court from politics and in the detachment of its members from even the appearance of political interest, activity or bias.

It is true that Justice Holmes deeply resented the mere mention of a member of the court in connection with a Presidential nomination, and it is understood that Mr. Frankfurter was distressed by the publicity built up a year or so ago around his colleague, Mr. Douglas, as a possible candidate for President or Vice-President. This publicity did not distress Mr. Douglas in the least—quite the contrary, but there is reason to believe that Mr. Frankfurter felt it degrading to the bench. Certainly Justice Holmes would have so felt.

THIS being the case, the sufferings of Mr. Frankfurter under the present personal publicity with which he is being sprayed must be acute. One periodical, under the caption of "Frankfurter's Role," speaks of the important part he is playing in "backstage policy matters." It insists that he "advises P.D.R. regularly over the phone and in evening White House chats." In another current article last week responsibility for the appointment of Mr.
Winant as Ambassador to England is placed on him, and it is further stated that it was he who really sent
"Ben" Cohen over as Winant's aide.
According to another report, Mr.
Cohen, with Frankfurter backing,
is to become the new SEC chairman
upon his return.

IN still another paragraph it is asserted that "there is much Cabinet grumbling about Frankfurter's urging Roosevelt toward too strongly an interventionist course." By another New York weekly the incident is cited of the cancellation at the President's request of Lord Halli-fax's proposed speech dealing with Britain's war aims, on the ground that it would be dangerous to make such a speech while the lease-lend bill is being debated. Regarding this,
the editor says: "This is one of the Administration moves which those who know credit to Justice Frankfurter."

RECENTLY there appeared in a New York evening newspaper of extreme radical tendencies a eulogistic article and picture of Mr. Frankfurter as among those who "dropped in on the White House." One pair of cosrip columnists declared that Mr.
Frankfurter really made Mr. Stimson Secretary of War and Mr. Peterson his assistant. This probably

Report 5500 Youths Now In National Defense Classes

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, March 5.—Approximately 5,500 Pennsylvania out-of-school rural and CCC youths are now enrolled in federal vocational training courses that are intended to qualify them for national defense jobs, according to Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction.

The trainees are young men, 17 to 25 years of age, obtaining their training in vocational agriculture school shops, local garages and machine shops in 154 centers in 53 counties. They are attending more than 300 classes operated under the direction of local school boards and the supervision of county superintendents of schools and agricultural supervisors of the department of public instruction.

Dr. Haas expressed concern with inability of the department to expand this program due to commitment of nearly all of the $394,746 allocated by the federal government to operate the present classes through next June. He now has nearly 100 applications for new classes, received from local school boards. Only a few of these can be approved unless additional funds come from Washington, he said. The maximum enrollment for the current program is expected to be about 6,000 men in approximately 320 classes.

The classes include 79 that are composed entirely of youth from 19 Civilian Conservation Corps camps in various parts of the state. About 1,400 men from these camps are transported to classes at the nearest available shops where local school districts have established training centers.

Most of these vocational training classes are being operated three hours a night, five nights a week. Elementary automobile, truck and tractor mechanics, and metal work classes are the most numerous.

Lawrence County Bought From Indians Back In 1784

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Pa., March 5.—One hundred and fifty-seven years ago the last purchase of Indian territory within the acknowledged limits of the state was made for $5,000, according to State Department of Commerce research.

Land acquired included part of the following present-day counties: Bradford, Tioga, Clinton, Centre, Clearfield, Indiana, Armstrong, Allegheny and Beaver and all of Crawford, Mercer, Lawrence, Butler, Venango, Clarion, Forest, Jefferson, Elk, Warren, McKean, Potter and Cameron. All of Erie was included except the small portion which did not become a part of the county until 1792.

William Maclay, Samuel Atlee and Francis Johnson were appointed commissioners to negotiate with the tribes of the six nations which claimed the land. It was on February 29, 1784, that they began arranging for the state's acquisition of all the land in Pennsylvania lying to the northwest of the purchase lines of 1768.

Only a sparsely inhabited wild country those counties today make a large contribution towards Pennsylvania's industrial, agricultural and recreational population of more than two and a half million persons.

The Great Game Of Politics

was the basis of Senator Wheeler's reference to "the Supreme Court justice who runs the War Department." And, finally, there is the recently printed story brought over from England by an American observer of the boasting by Mr. Harold Laski, the radical English writer, of his weekly letter to Mr. Frankfurter, which, according to him, is regularly shown to the President.

PRACTICALLY all this Frankfurter publicity has occurred within the past ten days. It conveys a hectic picture of a Supreme Court justice immersed in his eyes in domestic and international politics, actively engaged in recommending persons for both major and minor offices, constantly advising the President and deeply concerned in molding both foreign and domestic policies. It is not a pretty picture, and one can understand that it causes Mr. Frankfurter great pain. Probably it does him great injustice. Probably the things which it is said Mr. Frankfurter is doing and for which he is said to be responsible have all been imagined. Probably nothing is further from the Frankfurter wish than to mix in politics, promote candidacies for Federal posts or have a

PERHAPS Mr. Frankfurter is concentrating all his thought and devoting all his time to the arduous duties of his exalted office and, in these other matters, has only the remote and detached interest consistent with those high traditions of the court so dear to the heart of Justice Holmes. In that event, a great wrong is being done to a good man. However, if that is so, Mr. Frankfurter cannot blame the wicked anti-Roosevelt publishers against whom the President so frequently inveighs. Nor can responsibility attach either to the "reactionary columnists" who dissent from the New Deal domestic doctrines, or the "Tory editors" who opposed the third term. None of the quotations or reports above cited came from them. It is not they who have chronicled the Frankfurter activities or spread the Frankfurter stories.

ON the contrary, this picture of "The Frankfurter Role" has been painted by New Deal artists exclusively. The stories have sprung from and been spread by recognized Administration journalists. They have appeared first in the papers and columns which in the past have been singled out by Mr. Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt for praise. Some of them even have been commended by that great newspaper batter, Mr. Harold Ickes. Among them are the inspired journalists frequently advertised as close to the "inner circle and in position to get inside Administration facts."

SO, if Mr. Frankfurter feels grieved concerning what recently has been printed about his alleged activities and influence, he must not take it out on those despicable and degraded newspapers and columnists who have been blind to the glories of the New Deal and unappreciative of the great wisdom and virtue of Franklin Roosevelt. They simply are not guilty. Rather, he must reason with the flaming journalistic liberals who, from the beginning, have carried the New Deal torch—and some of whom have been on the New Deal pay roll. And some of whom he knows.

Third Of State Highways Carry Most Of Traffic

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, March 5.—Surveys completed by the highway planning division of the department of highways show approximately 80 per cent of all vehicular traffic is using about a third of the roads on the state system. The figures were tabulated from studies made in all counties except Philadelphia.

An analysis of the data shows that the primary mileage on the system carries an average of 1377 vehicles a day and the secondary route take care of a daily average of 559 vehicles. On the tertiary system or rural roads, the average is only 132 vehicles a day.

The total mileage involved for the routes studied is approximately 37,218 miles. It did not include any mileage in cities, boroughs or thickly populated urban areas.

The studies of the planning division show that the 770 miles on the primary system took care of 64.16 per cent of the total traffic. The average daily number of vehicles using this primary mileage was 10,701,901.

On the secondary system of 4878.8 miles the survey showed that 16.36 per cent of the total traffic was using these roads. The routes on the secondary system were used by 2,728,714 vehicles a day.

The rural route system was being used by only 19.48 per cent of the traffic. The mileage studied on the tertiary system was 24,569 miles and the number of vehicles using these routes averages 3,249,631.

The tertiary roads have been part of the system only since the summer of 1931 when approximately 20,000 miles of roads formerly the responsibility of township supervisors were taken over by act of the General Assembly. Since then there have been two legislative acts making additions to the rural road mileage.

Maple Sugar Time Nearing In State

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 5.—When the sap begins to rise in the trees, then springtime and maple sugar time are just around the corner in Pennsylvania. And mother nature and sugar grove owners cooperate to provide the delicacies of maple sirup and maple sugar—while tourists in increasing numbers are coming to learn of the interesting and typically Pennsylvania enterprise, the state department of commerce reports.

It is all very well to order wheat-cakes for breakfast on cold winter mornings but what are wheatcakes without Pennsylvania maple sirup? So the state's maple sirup industry is prepared to swing into action for the season that gets under way in a short time in many counties.

Although in many maple sugar groves pipelines are used to transport the sugary sap from stations to the "sap house," it is especially picturesque the more old-fashioned way when tanks on wagons or sleds are used to collect the sap from trees and into which the sap drips through spouts or "spiles" placed in the trees after the sugar grove attendants have bored from two to eight holes in each tree.

Clear weather and cold nights along about this time of the year mean tree-tapping is soon to begin. That's the call for pilgrimages and parties—"boiling off," "sugaring off" gatherings and "spotz" get-togethers which bring back the era of quilting parties, barn-raising and log-rollings. There's great fun in attending any of the processes connected with the industry. A heavy, sweet smell fills the air and members of sugar parties vie with each other to "lick the pan."

Ironically, the industry is supposed to have grown out of an Indian squaw's mistake. Legend tells us that "Moque," while attending other duties about the wigwam, forgot the moose meat she was boiling in sweet water from a maple tree. Returning to the kettle she found the liquid had turned brown and thick and she expected abuse from her husband for her neglect. To her surprise he was pleased with the flavor and rewarded her by bragging to other Indians of his wife's discovery. They began to copy the process and early white settlers learned from them.

Today, Pennsylvania retains fourth ranking in the production of maple sugar and sirup. Somerset leads with a production of about one-third of that of the state. That county took first awards for maple sugar exhibits in the 1941 State Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Amount and quality of sap is determined by the size of the tree, area of its crown and weather conditions. Approximately 40 to 50 gallons of sap are required for one gallon of sirup which yields about eight pounds of sugar. Refineries put the sap into large vats, then it is fed into an evaporator and kept in motion to prevent scorching. When thick enough some is taken off for table sirup, but for the production of maple sugar the sirup is "boiled down" or "boiled off" to a greater extent. Maple cream and cake sugar result at different stages of industry.

During the 1940 season, 433,000 trees were tapped with 36,000 pounds of sap made into sugar; 112,000 gallons of sap made into sirup and the total amount of production in sugar and sirup was 932,000 pounds, making approximately 215 pounds per tree tapped. According to these figures which were compiled by the Pennsylvania Federal-State Crop Reporting service of the State Department of Agriculture, Pennsylvania's total production of sugar equivalents was approximately 4.38 per cent of the national production in 1940.

Tells Butler Pomona To 'Examine Issues'

Dr. Dimit, State Grange Overseer, Speaks At Prospect Tuesday

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

NO USE TO BATTLE CHILDREN BECAUSE OF FOOD PREJUDICES

Many of the food prejudices of children are sound. The child knows somehow that the food doesn't agree with him or there is something about it that makes it unsatisfactory for him. But whether the reason is sound or not, if a child shows a continued and violent objection to some food, then the wise thing for his parent to do is dig up a substitute—some food that contains as many vitamins.

I always feel that if a child who has been properly trained, refuses to eat something, there must be a pretty good reason why he doesn't. And if some other food can be substituted, it should be. Nagging the child into eating this or that will only make matters worse.

Ninety nine percent of children should be able to drink a quart of milk daily without any difficulty. But every now and then you run into an individual who just can't seem to get it down. When this is the case, then the mother can get around the difficulty by getting the child to eat foods with milk in them.

Cream soups and custards are good examples.

If an honest attempt to get a child to drink milk or eat spinach fails, then the parent is entirely justified in substituting something else. Being a good parent consists in keeping a nice balance between being firm about essential things without being too determined or too dogmatic.

Everyone knows people who won't eat this or that because they were compelled to eat it as a child. For instance, I know a young woman who, when she was a child was forced against her will to eat fruit. Today you couldn't get a bit of fruit of any kind past her lips even if you tied her up and tried to force-feed her.

If you start early enough, you can train a child to eat almost anything. I think the acidophilus milk we give the Dionne Quintuplets is a good example. It is a culture made from the soy bean. It looks bad, smells terrible and tastes worse. Yet the Quintuplets take it every day of their lives.

I am sure if we tried to start them on it now, they'd balk, and I wouldn't blame them. But we started them when they were babies and their sense of taste hadn't developed. We give it to them because it keeps their intestines in splendid shape.

Congressman Martin Sees Gloomy Days Of Sacrifice

G. O. P. Chairman Discusses Trend

Says No Real Private Industry Will Exist In Few Years If Trend Continues

YOUTH WILL PAY FOR SPENDING SPREE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Republican national chairman and G. O. P. leader of the house, today warned the American people that the "average citizen faces gloomy days of sacrifice" and that, if present trends continue, "in a few years there will be no real private industry as we have known it."

Martin, a newspaper publisher in private life, who has spent sixteen years in the house of representatives, expressed fear that the huge government debt and spending program will result in a "lower standard of living" for the average citizen. He added that American youth will pay the "real cost" in lost opportunity.

The Massachusetts representative asserted that even the habits of the American people will be controlled from Washington if the present trend of government supervision is continued. In the end, when peace comes, he added, it will require aggressive leadership and a vigilant people to "recapture democracy."

Toward Totalitarian State
"Do you believe there is any danger of a totalitarian government being imposed on the American people," he was asked.

"We are moving swiftly toward a totalitarian state," replied Martin. "We must be vigilant in our efforts to prevent it."

Q. "Do you mean that all private industry is going to be regulated by the government?"
A. "If we continue present trends, in a few years there will be no real private industry as we have known it. All industry will be dependent on government controls, directly or indirectly, to keep their doors open. That means individual owners will be dependent on the whims of a government bureaucracy to keep their factories operating."

Q. "What does the future hold for the ordinary average citizen?"
A. "The youth of America are going to pay the real cost of this whole business. Opportunity to get ahead in life, as previous generations have had, will be definitely barred to the rising generation. Most of them will be working for the government, directly or indirectly. The government will take away their savings. The man who has already accumulated security savings for his old age may be alright. The rising generation, however, will find it difficult to save for old age and adversity. The young fellow will only break even, no matter what his income, because of high taxes and high prices, resulting from high taxes and high government spending."

Q. "What will that do to the American standard of living?"
A. "I am fearful that unless we tackle intelligently our economic problems, we will wake up to find we have a lower standard of living. One of our major tasks is to avert this."

Q. "Are you fearful of the effect on our standard of living of the administration's deficit spending and the big governmental debt?"

A. "Yes, the new federal debt of 65 billion dollars, recently provided by congress, means a debt of $493 to every man, woman and child in the United States. The interest charges on that debt will cost each man, woman and child in the United States $12.75 a year. A family of five will have a debt of $63.75 hanging over its head and that family's share of the annual interest charges will be $63.75. This is the debt alone and on top of that will be placed the average citizen's share of the tremendous expenditures on operating local, state and federal governments. These promises to be record breaking."

Q. "What will the debt and cost actually mean to the average citizen? How will it affect his daily mode of life?"
A. "It means the average citizen faces many gloomy days of sacrifice ahead."

Government Control
Q. "You said we are moving toward a totalitarian state. Will that have any particular effect on the average citizen?"

A. "If we drift into a totalitarian state, not only business but the habits of the people are going to be controlled by the government to a great degree."

Q. "If we do drift into a totalitarian state, during this emergency, will the American people be able to get rid of it after peace is restored to the world?"
A. "There is grave doubt in my mind that our present form of democracy can survive the next few years. It will require strong, aggressive leadership—it will require a vigilant people to preserve democracy and our democratic institutions when this emergency ends. Inasmuch as this is the only place in all the world where true liberty exists, we must not fail to recapture democracy when the war ends."

Legislature May Change Milk Laws

Measure Before Session Provides Licensing System By State Health Dept.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff

HARRISBURG, March 5.—The first of a series of democratic bills designed to aid the farmers of the state was sent to the senate today for final enactment following house passage.

The measure repeals all local ordinances regulating the production of milk and in their stead provides for a uniform licensing system administered by the state department of health.

Following house enactment by a 155-32 vote which split party lines wide open, Rep. Clayton E. Moul, (D) York, chairman of the house agriculture committee and one of the bill's two sponsors, urged the senate to approve the measure. The co-sponsor is Rep. Carleton T. Woodring, (D) Northampton. "Every dairy farmer in Pennsylvania will greet the passage of this bill by the house with great satisfaction," stated Moul. "If the bill passes the senate, he will be assured from the first time in 20 years of freedom from arbitrary, capricious, and useless inspection by local groups. Nothing in this act will prevent local communities from adopting and enforcing the most stringent regulations they desire regarding shipment of milk from the farm or its distribution to the consumer. But establishment of sanitary standards for the production of milk will rest with the state and with the state alone."

The bill was believed to have a good chance of obtaining sufficient Republican votes in the senate to assure its passage, provided it is reported out of committee. A similar measure was pigeon-holed two years ago in the house.

In the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Harry L. Houk against Nellie Houk to secure possession of Evelyn Joyce Houk, his daughter, which was scheduled for hearing Tuesday morning, postponement was made by the court until Wednesday, March 19.

During the period from July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1939, the county of Lawrence has paid off $948,000 of highway and bridge bonds, the figures of County Controller Frank W. Hill reveal. Of these amounts, $402,000 was paid on the series of July 1, 1919 highway bonds, which expired July 1, 1938; $126,000 on the series of October 1, 1919, highway bonds, which expired October 1, 1938; $255,000 on the series of July 1, 1921, highway bonds, which expired July 1, 1936, and $165,000 on the series of July 1, 1922, highway and bridge bonds, which expire July 1, 1951.

The total of $325,000 is owed on the series of July, 1922, highway and bridge bonds, but the liquid fuel tax reimbursement received by the county from the state will retire these bonds without any money being taken from the general fund for this purpose, Hill states, between $75,000 and $80,000 being received each year from this source.

The amount paid out represents a millage of 18 mills, when the money was paid out from the general fund, but under an act of assembly passed last year, the principal and interest on bonds owed by a county can be paid off with the funds received from the liquid fuel tax. There is a law before the state legislature which would take this tax away from the county and give it to the city, which if passed, will result in an increase in millage on real estate.

The commissioner's office, including salaries and general expense, amounted to $2,998.47; salary of county solicitor, $200; court house maintenance, $4,886.13; election equipment, $4,005; permanent registration bureau, $602.39; tax assessor's wages, $312.50; sealer of weights and measures salary, $75.

The county treasurer's office expense totaled $2,693.12, printing and postage of tax sales, $263.30; delinquent tax collector's commis-

tion, $6.78; controller's office, $711.50; register and recorder's office, $1,117.13; general court house administration, $95.12.

Expense of the sheriff's office was $1,071.31, county jail expense, $806.79, coroner's office, including $75 burial expense, $225.40; prothonotary's office, $1,059.96; district attorney and county detective, $1,086.58; law library, $115.75.

Court expense totaled $1,947.05; fees to justices and aldermen, $360.25; constable's fees, transcripts and costs, $281.80.

Probation and parole costs, $807.85; penal institutions, $1,884.19; non-county institutions, $203.98; maintenance of children, $121.27; county superintendent of schools' office, $103.80; insurance, $706.63; military contributions, $1,433; expense of supervisors convention, $79.80; tax and other refunds,

HAGGERTY IS ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Being hurried over an embankment, and buried under a five-ton truckload of coal, seems to have been just like a mere, every-day incident in the life of Harry Haggerty, of Beckford street, local coal dealer.

Haggerty escaped miraculously on Monday afternoon, when his truck was hurled over an embankment on Quest street, when the soft earth gave way, and he was buried beneath the truck and contents. He was rushed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where no injuries were apparent other than a few severe bruises. Yesterday, he was able to leave the hospital.

Unusual Scenery Built For Union High Production

Boat Setting Arranged For Radio Varieties Program Thursday And Friday

This year's Radio Varieties show at Union Township high school, will have what is perhaps the most unusual scenery and decorations that have been used at the school in many years.

The entire musical program will be presented from the decks of a huge boat, floating on mythical waves, built about the big Union High stage. Huge blue waves at the back of the stage, make the white hull of the ship stand out in brilliant contrast.

All of the decoration work has been accomplished by members of the Palette club, sponsor of the program. Radio Varieties will be presented on Thursday and Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock, at the school on Scotland Lane. Amil Le-Lenko is serving as master-of-ceremonies, and fills the role of ship's captain.

Julia Marlowe was the first actress in America to receive the honorary degree of doctor of letters. It was bestowed by George Washington university.

"MIDDLE-AGE" WOMEN (38 to 52 Years Old)

HEED THIS WARNING!

If you're going thru middle-age and are NERVOUS, restless, cranky, blue at times, suffer weakness, dizziness, hot flashes followed by chilliness, a bloated heavy feeling, distress of "irregularities"—due to this period in a woman's life, THEN LISTEN—

Start today and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—famous for over 60 years in helping hundreds of thousands of women calm upset nerves, lessen annoying distress due to this functional disturbance and thus help them to go smiling thru this "trying time."

Pinkham's Compound is one medicine you can buy today that's made especially for women. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such annoying symptoms. Get a bottle right away from your druggist.

Also in handy tablet form with added iron for women who also need to build up red blood. Pinkham's is WORTH TRYING!

Don't let 'em kid you—there is one and only one kind of drive that completely eliminates the conventional clutch as well as the clutch pedal—one and only one kind of drive that automatically selects and automatically shifts into the right gear for best performance under all conditions—one and only one kind of drive that gives you the safety of "two hands on the wheel" at all times, plus the super-safety of the world's simplest, easiest-controlled driving, and that is the original...

HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

DEVELOPED, PROVED AND INTRODUCED BY OLDSMOBILE—OFFERED IN ALL OLDS MODELS

WHAT DOES HYDRA-MATIC DO THAT OTHER DRIVES DON'T?

CHECK the chart at the right. You'll see that Hydra-Matic Drive does things no other drive can do! Take an Olds Hydra-Matic out on the road. You'll find how much these things all mean to you in effort reduced, safety enhanced, performance improved, gasoline saved—not to mention the new and totally different thrill you get from driving! Hydra-Matic Drive, remember, is more than a fluid coupling—more, even, than a fully automatic, four-speed transmission. Hydra-Matic Drive is the world's first and only combination of both. And it's been proved in the hands of more than 75,000 Oldsmobile owners—in over 225 million miles of driving!

Miss Mary B. Stevenson, Guest Of Council At Meeting At Headquarters Tuesday Evening

Girl Scout council members held their monthly meeting in the Girl Scout headquarters, Greer building, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with Miss Mary B. Stevenson, a member of the Girl Scout national staff, as guest.

Ordinary business was conducted and two new members were admitted to the council, Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger and Mrs. Clyde Gillilan. Committees gave their reports, and two new senior troops were reported to have been started.

Miss Stevenson addressed the group and spoke on the broadening of the concepts of the council's understanding of its functions. She also told them it was their duty to know their community and its needs, to educate the community to these needs and then find volunteers to help with the program. It is the duty of the council to train these volunteers and committee members. The council should formulate and interpret the policies of the national Girl Scout organization to the community. The commissioner appoints the working groups or standing committees, the chairman of which is an active member of the council. The Girl Scout organization is based on a democratic way of living.

Library Project Resumed Today

The WPA book mending and binding project for the New Castle free public library was resumed today, for the first time since it was stopped on January 14, due to lack of funds.

Members of the binding crew have resumed their work on the library books in the repair room on the ground floor of the library building.

According to Miss Alice Starling, librarian, this project is now included under a state-wide library program.

Titans Top Rockets In Movie-Like End

Sensational Rally In Last 45 Seconds Gives Westminster 55-53 Victory

CAPACITY CROWD WATCHES THRILLER

(Special To The News)
SLIPPERY ROCK, March 4.—Hollywood's greatest scenario writer couldn't pen a more incredible climax than the one unfolded in Slippery Rock college gymnasium Tuesday night before more than 800 pop-eyed spectators.

With the clock ticking off the final 45 seconds of play, Westminster College's gallant game edition hit the mesh for six machine-gun-like points to eke out a 55-53 victory over a doughty Slippery Rock combination.

Nineteenth Win
The important triumph, Westminster's ninth in a row and 19th out of 20 for the season, left the cool-headed Titans one game away from the 1940-41 Pennsylvania college championship and kept them in the running for a place in the Metropolitan Intercollegiate tournament to be held in Madison Square Garden this month.

With two minutes left, the Rockets sported a mountainous 51-43 lead. Stan Wask, Titan center, pocketed a double play under the hoop. Frankie Webster, the Rockets' spearhead, potted a foul. S. Miller flipped an Annie Oakley for the Titans, cutting the deficit, 52-46. With a minute and 45 seconds left, the Rockets' lead seemed safe.

On two successive occasions, Dale Dunmire was fouled. As cool as the proverbial cucumber, Dunmire stepped to the foul line and pumped in all three tosses to further cut Slippery Rock's margin, 52-49. Wask stole the ball from Webster and tossed to Lee Fox who dribbled outside the charity circle and flipped a pretty double-header that put Westminster a point behind, 52-51.

Titans Go Ahead
The clock showed 22 seconds when Dale Dunmire grabbed Jon Spak's bullet-like pass and dropped a two-player under the hoop to give the Titans a 53-52 edge. After Webster's side shot failed, Dunmire took the rebound, streak to court and shot unsuccessfully. Miller tipped in the Titans' final field goal. With a three-point edge, Westminster called a third time out in the final two minutes, sacrificing a free toss which Webster sank for the Rockets' 53rd marker.

After play resumed, the timer accidentally dispatched the gun as the excited spectators converged on the floor. A check-up revealed that there were still two seconds left. The floor was cleared and Westminster took the ball out of bounds. Fox heaved the spheroid the length of the long floor as the game ended.

The game was a nip and tuck affair throughout the first two quarters, the score being tied five times. In the waning moments of the half, Miller, Dunmire and Fox fired field goals to give the Titans a 31-26 edge.
Webster-Carey Star
With Frankie Webster and Tom Carey, ex-New Castle High star, serving as spearheads, Slippery Rock put on a third period spurt that left the Westminsterites befuddled. Carey, Webster and K. Miller dropped sensational shots to take a 47-39 lead as the three-way mark passed. The Rockets pocketed 21 points, compared to eight for the Titans. Wask, Miller and Dunmire garnered all the Titans' points in the third.

Slippery Rock continued to set the pace throughout the final stanza. With two minutes left, the cool-headed Titans joined hands and engineered the sensational finish.
Westminster's tail end rally was a scintillating display of superb playing under pressure. Despite the fact that they trailed, the Titans moved around methodically, never once losing their heads. It was the combined effort of five fighting athletes that earned Westminster one of its proudest triumphs.

Trying to pick a star in the Westminster lineup would be unfair. Dunmire, however, lead the scoring with 17 points. Stan Wask followed with 18. Fox dropped 10 markers. "Buzz" Ridd, the injured Titan ace, played for a few minutes.
The Rockets gave Westminster its toughest battle of the season. "Frankie" Webster and Tom Carey were sensational, both on defense and offense. Webster scored 15 points; Carey, 13.

Rens Play Here Tonight At 8:30

World's Champions Battle Gersons In Gigantic Triple-Header

TWO OTHER GOOD GAMES ON PROGRAM

Kings of all they survey in the basketball world, the New York Renaissance unfold their wizardry on the Arena court tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

On their way to the most impressive record of any professional club in the nation, the colored Rens appear here at a time when they are better than a July sun. If performances of the past several weeks may be used as a criterion, basketball devotees will see a streamlined exhibition of cage maneuvers.

Gersons Strong
The slick pros swish snipe against a rehabilitated Gerson five in the feature of a triple header. The Gersons will present one of the strongest lineups available in the hope of snapping the march of the Rens.

Wilhelm Sidat-Singh, Syracuse's 1939 All-American, is one of the Rens' spearheads. Eyre Saiche, William Gates, Zack Clayton and Puggy Bell are some of the nationally famous stars who grace the Rens' roster.

As an added attraction, the Rens have promised to present "circus basketball". The versatile colored athletes will perform black magic with a spheroid. Their comical gestures have wowed audiences all season long.

Girls In Prelim
The gigantic roundup, slated to start at 7:30, brings together two of the classiest girls' teams in the district. Factor's Variety Girls and the Akron Goodrich Lassies. The local hoopsters have dropped but two contests. The Onions come here with a record that ranks high in girls' case circles.

In another star-studded battle, New Castle Ex-High Stars face the crack Fannins quintet in what should be a hotly contested affair.

The Fannins boast of some of the classiest players in the county. The Ex-High lineup is dotted with former New Castle High stars.

With such an outstanding basketball attraction on the local calendar, one of the biggest galleries of the season is anticipated.

Wabash Bears Defeat Falcons

The Wabash Bears basketball team, entrants in the Class B division of the coming Fourth Annual City-County basketball tourney defeated the Polish Falcon Reserves last night at the Falcon hall 43 to 25.

The Bears offensive attack was led by Orlando and Ernie Adamo, with 27 of the points between them. Grybo and Kirk led the scoring for the little "Falcs."

Ancient 'T' Formation To Do Grid Come-Back

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 5.—Although the ancient T-formation will be widely used in football during the coming year, its effectiveness will not be strongly felt because of the little knowledge prevalent about the inner workings of the system.

That was the opinion of Coach Earl "Greasy" Neely, who recently resigned as Yale's backfield coach to take over the Pittsburgh Ironmen of the National Football league. Declared Neely:

"The T promises to be widely used this season because of the great success last year, but I do not believe much headway will be made of it because coaches actually know little about the inner workings of the system that places the quarterback under the center, the three backs lined up as a T behind the quarter and with great stress on speed and split-second timing."

According to Neely there are only three men in the country today who are well qualified to teach the T-formation. He listed them as George Halas, whose bears captured the 1940 pro title by routing the Washington Redskins, 73-0; Clark Shaughnessy, who gave Stanford a great team in one year; and Ralph Jones, Lake Forest college coach and previously long associated with Halas.

He refused to give an outright answer when asked whether his own Ironmen will tackle the T-formation next autumn. He said:

"We will start to design the offensive when our players are known, but I may add our strategy at all times will be that a strong offense is the best defense."

With Christie and O'Neil dividing scoring honors with 22 markers, Shenango Township High closed its cage season by defeating Mars, 34-24, Tuesday night on Shenango floor.

The East New Castle five took the lead at the start and was never in danger of being overcome.
The following seniors played their final game for Shenango:
O'Neil, Christie, Brunton, Dubusch, Chrobak and Covert. Bob Fitzer, who was unable to play, will also be lost by graduation. Shenango won 12 and lost 6 for the season.

In the prelim, Shenango's reserves won from Mars' seconds, 25-13.

While the wrestlers are gambling here Monday night, Monte Brown of McKeesport will be battling Ken Overlin, the middleweight champion, in a non-tit 10-round bout at Pittsburgh. Johnny Dean opposes Steve Kulich of Leechburg in a six-round.

Coach Johnny Lawther of Penn State terms Johnny Barr the greatest all-around basketball player he ever has coached. Barr will play against Carnegie Tech tonight. He has scored 506 points in his three seasons at Penn State.

Revolver Club Meets Tonight
The Sportmen's Revolver club will have its weekly shoot this evening at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock it was announced by Secretary, Charles Phipps.

There will be a short business meeting of the members following the shoot, with a lunch being served. Matters of importance to the club will be discussed.

Cangey was high man for the shoot held last week with a fine 36 string, while Kendra was second with an 85 string. Other scores were: Colyer 71, H. Schweinsberg 76, Bush 74, Phipps 81, Thompson 65, McKee 63, Kilbreath 76, Shaffer 69, Nicholson 74, Wilson 76.

Renaissance Tops Philadelphia Five
(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., March 5.—The New York Renaissance pro basketball quintet defeated the Philadelphia Spphas at Kane last night, 41 to 31. The New Yorkers held the lead throughout the contest.

Dolly King, who graduated from Long Island University in February, paced the Renaissance team in scoring with 16 points, while his former teammate, Irv Torgoff, led the Spphas with nine.

The University of Cincinnati may tangle with Michigan State in all sports next year.

Marshall was sought by the Huntington club of the Mountain league, the same loop in which he got his first break. After viewing the "ifs" and "whens," the smiling Hillsviller decided to let well enough alone. Thus, he turned down the Huntington offer. Marshall's 1940 career was stymied temporarily by an ailment which saw him mysteriously lose weight. He is in fine health now, according to Frank Conit, our informant.

Old Furnace To Play K. Pulaskis

The Old Furnace basketball team will play the fast K. Pulaski Big Five at the Arena tonight at 6:30 o'clock in a return game. The Old Furnace won a recent game at the K. P. hall, and the Oaklanders are seeking revenge.

Last Sunday at the Arena floor the Old Furnace team upset the McDonald P. N. A. team 29 to 21, with Kuth and Wilson the standouts.

Minner To Train With N. Y. Giants

New Wilmington High Star Leaves For Tallahassee, Florida, Thursday

WILL SPEND SEASON WITH KNOXVILLE NINE

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, March 5.—In top physical condition and determined to carve a place in the annals of baseball, Paul "Lefty" Minner, towering New Wilmington High star athlete, leaves on Thursday for Tallahassee, Fla., to begin spring training with the New York Giants.

Minner, who is the property of the National league club, will train in the sun belt for the next six weeks, after which the Giants plan shifting Minner to their Southern Association farm team, Knoxville. He hopes to finish the season with the Tennessee team and return home in September in time to complete a final semester of high school studies.

Stamped as one of the most promising pitchers in the district, the tall southpaw has a good assortment of stuff. His curve breaks fast and his fast tosses have plenty of zip. In addition, Minner is one of the hardest hitters in the county, leading growers to the belief that he may be shifter to first base if his pitching fails to hit the proper level.

Minner started his baseball career a couple of seasons back, enrolling in a Pittsburgh baseball school. Minner's rapid progress caused many diamond athletes to shift their eyebrows in satisfaction. "Lefty" saw considerable duty around the county. Late last fall he got an opportunity to drift into professional ball and accepted.

Minner is about 17 years of age and towers 6 feet 5 inches. A cool-headed athlete with a facility for learning quickly, the popular college town star may reach the big too before reaching voting age.
Paul is best known in the area for his incredible basketball performances with Coach John Eagleston's "Greyhounds". A member of three championship teams, Minner's floor episodes were cut short this season when he suffered a fractured left wrist in the Shenango game. He was forced to the sidelines. With his departure went New Wilmington's Section 20 title hopes.

Minner's lame wrist has responded to treatment and he is in splendid condition for his first big break in baseball.
Lawrence county's diamond mini-coterie join hands in extending best wishes to one of the clearest, most versatile and most popular young men to ever grace the local sports rostrum.

Notes strictly off the cuff:

Joe Hariman is a candidate for the vacant coaching berth at Beaver Falls high. This startling bit of gist of the mill comes from the typewriter of friend Ernie Reed, valley scribbler. Joe formerly directed athletics at Grove City. In 1940, he accepted a similar berth at Franklin. Now he'd like the valley berth. Reed, however, hints that John Drescher, Tarentum builder of champions, will probably get the call.

Henry Marshall, who went as far as Indianapolis of the American Association league, isn't interested in returning to professional baseball, for the coming season at least. Marshall, a sensational outfielder from Hillsville, is doing well in Youngstown, where he has an excellent job. Marshall will be quite active this season, holding down an outfield berth with the Youngstown Sheet & Tube aggregation.

Marshall was sought by the Huntington club of the Mountain league, the same loop in which he got his first break. After viewing the "ifs" and "whens," the smiling Hillsviller decided to let well enough alone. Thus, he turned down the Huntington offer. Marshall's 1940 career was stymied temporarily by an ailment which saw him mysteriously lose weight. He is in fine health now, according to Frank Conit, our informant.

All is not well in the Indian wigwam. Someone scouted around Cleveland's selective service circles and came up with an ache. Bob Feller may get the call to colors by September 1. Feller's number is 2857. Wouldn't that just be "duffy"? . . . Debs Garms, who led the National league in batting last season, hails from the appropriately named hamlet of Bangs, Texas!

SCOOP!—Louis Blair, New York Yankee third base candidate, got a handful of dirt—and the ball—in a training camp workout.

Church League Games Tonight
Three more games will be played in the New Castle church basketball league at the "Y." The first game at 7:45 o'clock will find the red-hot Greek St. George team battling the Epworth Methodist team.

The Greeks are headed for the Class A championship by the looks of things with Manny Othites, Jimmy Poleno and Nicky Lucas the spearheads of the Greeks attack. They won the first-half championship.

The second game will have the St. Mary's team tangle with the First Methodists and this should go to the Saints. In the third game the Croton Methodists play the First Presbyterians.

All entry money and player lists were handed into the committee last night.

Whipped by the icy wind, two nuns stand silhouetted in the driving snow in New York City, swept by the worst blizzard of the year. Roaring into the city from the Middle Atlantic Coast, the blizzard covered the streets with several inches of snow.

TURKEY ON GUARD AS NAZI BOOTS SHAKE BALKANS

Bosphorus straits

As Germany completed its swift and efficient occupation of Bulgaria, Turkey, across the border, moved to prepare for any eventuality. First Turkish moves were the closing of the Dardanelles-Bosphorus straits to all ships unless they identify themselves and secure Turkish naval pilots, mining of the strategic waterway between the Black sea and the Mediterranean, and the dispatching of warships to the area. The trouble-ridden section of the Balkans and the Near East is shown in the Central Press map at right. German troops now are near the Greek and Turkish frontiers.

AMERICANS SPEND NEARLY BILLION DOLLARS ON LEADING AMUSEMENTS

MOVIE THEATERS

HORSE RACING

POOL ROOMS

LEGITIMATE THEATER

BASEBALL

DANCE HALLS

Americans are pouring nearly a billion dollars a year into the tills of the seven leading amusement industries in the United States, according to figures released by the census bureau. Motion picture theaters are far in front in receipts with 15,115 movie and vaudeville houses taking in approximately $675,000,000 last year. Baseball, the national pastime, is far down the list in sixth place, taking in $25,000,000, $7,000,000 less than the legitimate theater and opera. The bureau has no record of the money spent for such amusements as golf, college sports or night clubbing—or in the gambling casinos.

Blow At Rumania May Be Britain's Aim

By JAMES E. BROWN
Correspondent

LONDON, March 5.—Nazi Germany's hopes for victory lie in a concerted onslaught against shipping—juggler vein of the British empire.

Great Britain, on the other hand, will make her supreme bid for triumph by a blow at Rumania—solar plexus of the Rome-Berlin axis.

This picture of the war and its immediate future was outlined to this correspondent today by a semi-official American traveler who has just arrived in London after an extensive tour of the capitals of Europe.

He insisted upon anonymity for obvious reasons. But he has had a better opportunity than any other American to study the European picture in all its phases, from every point of view and in virtually every capital.

So far as a German invasion of England is concerned, he is doubtful. Adolf Hitler will not try it, he says, unless he has at least a 90 per cent chance of success.

And this margin obviously cannot be gained unless or until the British fleet and merchant marine upon which this island kingdom depends are smashed.

The next six months he foresees as a period of shadow-boxing during which Hitler will try to soften England through attacks by sea and air and perhaps by land in the Mediterranean and middle east.

During this time, of course, Hitler will attempt a knockout blow if England lets down her guard and provides him with an opening. But, this speaker emphasized, the fuhrer will not be misled into attempting any gamble which affords more than a 10 per cent chance of failure.

Germany's decision to occupy Bulgaria and Hitler's other moves in the Balkans, he said, are all designed to protect Rumania—the soft spot or solar plexus.

At the same time, Germany has built and is still building a bastion to the south, giving Hitler an opportunity for the first time to hack away at British shipping in the Mediterranean.

Hitler, he said, has laid his war plans like a master chess-player. Except for the destruction of Great Britain, he has no single aim or purpose. Various options have been set up. Invasion of Britain stands at the top of the list. But attacks upon Gibraltar, Iraq, Suez, Greece and even the Russian Ukraine are in the Nazi books. They are being held in reserve, my informant said, for use in later stages of the war.

Pointing to a huge map on the floor on which he traced various potential German thrusts across the Mediterranean and into Africa, the speaker insisted that Bulgaria did not want German occupation.

King Boris and all his advisers, he said, were more than anxious to maintain peace in their theatre of Europe but were absolutely helpless.

German and Italian offensive action against Yugoslavia is not likely to be necessary, he said. Now flanked on both sides, this largest of all Balkan countries probably will enter the axis fold without resistance.

In conclusion, the informant emphasized that naval power—as in the last war—will ultimately be a decisive factor. His last words were: "I feel that Britain will pull through."

Tugboat Deb Weds

Wilma Baard, the barge captain's daughter, is shown with her husband, Count Nava de Tajo, after their marriage in New York, culminating a two-week romance. Two years ago Wilma was presented to society by fourteen prominent men-about-town, a take-off on Brenda Frazier's elaborate $50,000 coming-out party.

'Y' Men's Teams Rally Thursday

'Pep' Dinner To Draw Members Of 18 Teams For Advance Parley

Campaign strategy for the March 18-19 membership drive of the New Castle Young Men's Christian Association will be fully outlined by General Chairman Richard E. Rentz at a dinner rally of the 18 men's division teams in the "Y" Thursday at 6:15 p. m.

The eight boys' division teams charted their plans at an earlier rally. They will not join the men tomorrow night.

Rentz's co-chairmen, J. Preston Flaherty and Lee "Newt" Campbell, today urged all members to be out Thursday night. They stressed the importance of hearing plans for the novel "Pennsylvania Turnpike" building contest between two competing divisions. About 60 will attend.

NAVAL TRAINING PLANE CRASHES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—A navy training plane crashed at nearby Norbeck, Md., today carrying at least one, and possibly two naval aviators to their death, according to the Maryland State police.

The plane went down in a heavily wooded section and exploded when it dove into a creek, police said. Authorities were unable to learn how many were killed. The ship was reported to be a two-seater. The navy department refused to give any information on the crash until an investigation is completed.

FIVE MEET DEATH IN AUTO-BUS CRASH

(International News Service)

AYER, Mass., March 5.—Five persons were killed today when their automobile was in collision with two busloads of Fort Devens draftees. All of the latter escaped serious injury.

Victims were Gerard Pelletier, 24, Anthony A. Ridnick, 24, Ruth Stollck, 18, Blanche Stollck, 16, and Olga Pytashniuk, all of Boston.

WILL MODERNIZE CITIZENS BANK

Entire Interior To Be Revamped; Work May Start April 1

Citizens National Bank will modernize its entire interior in an alteration program expected to get under way about April 1. President George R. Ralph announced this afternoon.

Changes in the banking room will include a new vault, new banking counters and a complete lobby renovation. Plans are being prepared by the W. G. Eckles Co., architects.

Citizens National was founded 50 years ago this year—in 1891. Not long ago the exterior of the bank, at Washington and Mill, was remodelled.

Rowland Vacations On Pacific Coast

Roger W. Rowland, secretary of property and supplies in the cabinet of Governor Arthur H. James, is enjoying a two-week vacation in California.

LEGION OF HONOR TO MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Legion of Honor will have an important meeting in the club rooms of the Cathedral Thursday evening.

Plans for the annual spring dinner will be discussed, along with other business.

WAIVES HEARING

Sam Kolonia, who reportedly operates a beverage parlor at Public Square and East Washington street, and who was arrested by state liquor control board enforcement agents, waived a hearing before Alderman James C. Brice for a hearing in Lawrence county court. He was charged with selling beer to minors, according to the alderman. He gave bail and is at liberty.

SONS OF ITALY

There will be a meeting for the Sons of Italy organization Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made today. The session will take place in the club rooms, South Mill street.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Clearing the decks for a battle over more drastic proposals, the senate today formally adopted four amendments to the lease-lend bill which had been agreed upon by both the opposition and administration forces.

Amendments approved follow:

1. Revised house amendment declaring that congress can recall powers granted the president at any time by passing a concurrent resolution. Such a resolution would not require presidential approval.
2. Prohibition against the president entering into contracts without specific authority of congress.
3. Limitation to June 30, 1946, on provisions which permit repayments by Great Britain or other nations to be turned over to the army and navy.
4. A provision, frequently included in bills, which says if one provision of the act is held invalid, other provisions remain unaffected.

The first change adopted—the one re-writing a house amendment—had been prepared by Sen. George (D) Ca., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee to assure constitutionality of the provision.

No Persons Injured In Highway Crash

Automobiles were damaged but no persons were injured at 7:45 a. m. today on the New Castle-East Brook highway when the cars driven, State Motor police report, by Mrs. M. C. Minsky, R. D. 5 and Herbert Jacobs, R. D. 4, crashed.

It was asserted Mrs. Minsky was driving toward the city and Jacobs toward East Brook.

Mrs. Minsky asserted that an auto was emerging from a side road and in an effort to avoid a crash with that machine swerved her auto and it collided with that of Jacobs traveling in an opposite direction.

The crash occurred one mile from the city line.
